

Intesa becomes part of Kyndryl and confirm its role as a strategic player in the digital transformation field

Torino, 4th November 2021 - Intesa, a company located in Turin and born in 1987, that has been an IBM Company for over 15 years, is now beginning a new journey as a Kyndryl company. Kyndryl is a spin-off of the IBM's Managed Infrastructure Services division, and today is listed as an independent company at NYSE.

As part of Kyndryl Italia, Intesa will hold a strategic role as a service company: Kyndryl Italia and Intesa share the common goal of implementing and managing the clients' digital transformation journey, being part of their growth to contribute to the development of Italy.

In these years of changes and socio-economic revolutions, Intesa strength its role in the global IT market and consolidate its mission as a go-to partner to go through the digital transformation of business processes, providing steady and advanced digital services, a consultancy approach and delivery ability of innovative projects to the international organisations.

"Kyndryl is the world and Italy largest company in the IT infrastructure and technological services fields. Being part of Kyndryl is a great opportunity for Intesa, to confirm its value on the market and take it among 4.600 companies in 115 countries, the majority of companies Fortune 100" stated Andrea Agnello, Senior Partner of Kyndryl CEO of Intesa.

"We will take the opportunity to promote our digital business transformation model that can be summarized in three key concepts: alignment with the time to market of projects, customer focus, and environmental and social sustainability" says Giuseppe Mariani, General Manager of Intesa.
